

Wednesday, June 9, 2021
11:00am - 12:00pm PT

Dr. Simon Stanworth

Associate Professor of Haematology and Transfusion Medicine, Oxford University

“Should I still be interested in clinical research into the appropriate and safe use of blood components?”

I will discuss some recent clinical studies, largely for red cell and platelet transfusions, and highlight gaps in the research agenda moving forward. At the end of my haematology training, my head of department warned me that transfusion medicine had very limited opportunities for research and should be avoided: was he correct?

Canadian Blood Services

BLOOD
PLASMA
STEM CELLS
ORGANS
& TISSUES

